

Top 10 Reasons to Send Me to RAPS Regulatory Convergence

- 1. I'll be an even more valuable asset to the organization.

The Regulatory Convergence is a great opportunity to fulfill all my professional development goals at one time. I'll learn new skills and do my job better.
- 2. I'll bring back knowledge to share with the team.

The practical and strategic knowledge I gain from Convergence can be put to use immediately by our whole team.
- 3. I will be part of the conversation about the latest trends and challenges impacting the healthcare regulatory profession worldwide.

Regulatory professionals from all over the world come to the Convergence. This is a unique opportunity to talk to people from teams like ours and find out how they make the most of trends and overcome challenges.
- 4. I can earn up to 24 of the credits I need for RAC recertification, or find out how to get mine.

The preconference workshops are worth 12 recertification credits, and the Convergence is worth another 12 credits. If I don't have the RAC, I can take this opportunity to talk to people who have already earned their RACs and attend RAC information sessions to learn more.
- 5. I can save the company money by learning about potential regulatory pitfalls and how to avoid them.

The most knowledgeable leaders in regulatory will be at the Convergence. This is our chance to learn from them and implement their advice.
- 6. I will have direct access to representatives from health authorities like FDA, EMA, and more.

I'll get to hear what the future holds for their organizations and ours, and talk to them about how to make our interactions the most productive.
- 7. After Convergence is over, I'll still have access to all the sessions.

The workshops and sessions at Convergence provide me with notes and presentation materials so my learning will continue when I am back in the office.
- 8. I will grow my professional network.

After Convergence ends, we will have access to a network of other regulatory professionals from whom we can get input and ideas.
- 9. I can meet vendors connected with our industry.

We'll have made important connections with vendors and consultants who can help us get where we need to go.
- 10. I'll bring back best practices learned from the most knowledgeable leaders in regulatory.

No other event provides me with an opportunity like this. Convergence is the most important gathering of regulatory professionals in the world, all eager to share knowledge and insight that can benefit our company.
